PREFACE THE SECOND EDITION

The revised edition of English for Institutional Course (EFIC) is expected to fulfill the subject of English as one of institutional courses in Universitas Ahmad Dahlan (UAD) which is studied in the first semester (year). This book is designed to reach the goal for communicative approach and student-centered learning.

English for Institutional Course (EFIC) contains learning objectives, title/topic, pre-activities, activities, language function, and task. From these parts, students are expected:

1. to benefit from the opportunity to express their ideas;
2. to be more willing to speak and write actively;
3. to be ready and motivated to improve their English.

The materials of the book are taken from various sources of books, e-books, and webs which are adjusted to the students' needs and interests in this era. In addition, EFIC tries to empower and boost the students' basic English skills (listening, reading, speaking, and writing). In this edition, there are some revisions on pre-activities, activities, and tasks. This is done to accomplish the motto of UAD, which is "Moral and Intellectual Integrity".

Finally, many thanks are delivered to some parties who have great contribution to the revised edition of EFIC. They are:

1. Bapak Drs. Ishafit, M.Si., the Head of BPA (Badan Pertimbangan Akademik) of Universitas Ahmad Dahlan and the staffs;
2. The members of Editor;
3. All of the English Lecturers who participate in writing the book.
4. Some parties that cannot be mentioned one by one.

However, this book is far from being perfect, therefore criticism and suggestion are welcome.

A. Pre-Activities

Read the dialogue carefully

- Joana : "Hello, girl! How's your day?"
- Winnie : "Hi... I'm great! What about you? You seem a bit irritated. Have you got your lunch? Let's order some food!"
- Joana : "I'm already full... I just met the new lecturer, Mrs. Smith, this morning."
- Winnie : "Really? I heard that she is a strict person. Is that true?"
- Joana : "Emmmm... I'm not really sure."
- Winnie : "What does she look like?"
- Joana : "She looks like an actress. She is tall and slim. She has brown eyes and oval face. Her nose is pointed, and she has thick eyebrows."
- Winnie : "Wow...what a beautiful lecturer! What is she like?"
- Joana : "Emmm...she is very punctual. I was late for about 15 minutes and she was really mad at me. I admitted that she is a really smart and creative lecturer. But, I guess she is a bit impatient to her students."
- Winnie : "Wuhuuuu... I guess I should be ready for tomorrow. I'll attend her class tomorrow morning."
- Joana : "Good luck for you then!"

1. I am crazy about my idol.
2. She doesn't like this shirt.
3. They enjoy watching TV.

D. Language Function

1. Gerund

Gerund is the ing-form verb, in that one of the functions is to act as a noun.

Gerund = Verb1 + ing

If we put it in a sentence:

Subject + Verb + Gerund

Examples: I like playing badminton.

A lot of boys are fond of playing soccer.

I enjoy reading a book at night.

2. Infinitive

Other than gerund, a noun can be in the form of Infinitive. Infinitive is to plus a verb form.

Infinitive = to + verb1

If we put it in a sentence:

Subject + Verb + Infinitive

Examples: She loves to meet a new friend.

He likes to go to the cinema.

C. Language Function

1. Modal for Offering 1

Offering to Do Something	Responses	Note
I'll carry your bag. We can give you a lift. Can I get you a cup of coffee? Can I help you?"	Oh, thanks. Oh, that would be great. Thank you. That would be nice. No, it's all right. I can manage.	We can use will or can to offer to do something.
Shall we pay you the money now? Can I get a taxi for you?	Oh, there's no hurry. Yes, please.	We can also use question forms with shall or can .

2. Modal for Offering 2

Offering Something	Responses	Note
Would you like one of these chocolates? Would anyone like more coffee? Would you like a cup of coffee?	Yes, please. Thank you. No, thanks. Yes, please.	To offer food or drink, we use would like (not Do you like).
Will you have a biscuit? Won't you have something to drink?	Thank you. Not for me, thank you.	We can also use Will/Won't you have...?
Have a biscuit. (informal)	Thank you.	In informal speech we can use the imperative.

3. Modal for Requesting 1

Asking permission / asking to do something
With "I" as the subject	Responses	Note
May I (please) borrow your pen? May I come in?	Certainly. Yes, please do.	May I is used to request permission. May is more formal than can and could.
Could I borrow your pen (please)? Could I use your phone?	Yes, certainly. Yes, of course.	Sometimes May I and Could I are equally polite. Note in Could I borrow your pen (please)?: In a polite request, could has a present or future meaning, not a past meaning.
Might I borrow your pen?	Of course.	Might I is also possible. Might I is quite formal and polite; it is used much less frequently than may I or could I.
Can I borrow your pen? (informal) (on the phone) Hello, can I speak to Steve, please?	Yes, of course. Sure. (informal)	Can I is used informally to request permission, especially if the speaker is talking to someone s/he knows fairly well. Can I is usually considered a little less polite than may I or could I.
Do you think I could borrow your bike?		We say do you think I could ...? (not can)
		Often the response to a polite request is an action, such as a nod or shake of the head, or a simple "uh-huh."

With Would You Mind If I/Is It All Right If I/Is It Ok If I	Responses	Note
Would you mind if I closed the window?	No, not at all/of course not.	Notice in Would you mind if I is followed by the simple past. Sometimes in informal spoken English, the simple present is used: Would you mind if I close the window? (Note: The simple past does not refer to past time after would you mind ; it refers to present or future time). The meaning of “ Would you mind if I closed the window? ”: May I close the window? Is it all right if I close the window? Will it cause you any trouble or discomfort if I close the window?
Would you mind if I used the phone?	No, that would be fine.	Another typical response might be “unh-unh,” meaning “no.”
Do you mind if I use your phone?	Sure. Go ahead.
Is it all right if I come in? Is it OK if I come in?	Yes, of course.

4. Modal for Requesting 2

Asking someone to do something
With "you" as the subject	Responses	Note
Would you pass the salt (please)? Would you please be quiet? I'm trying to concentrate.	Yes, I would be happy to. Yes, I'd be happy to.	The meaning of would you and will you in a polite request is the same. Would you is more common and is often considered more polite. The degree of politeness, however, is often determined by the speaker's tone of voice.
Could you pass the salt (please)? Could you wait a moment, please? Excuse me, could you tell me how to get to the airport?	Yes, I would be glad to. Yes, of course.	Basically, could you and would you have the same meaning. The difference is slight: Would you: Do you want to do this please? Could you: Do you want to do this please, and is it possible for you to do this? Could you and would you are equally polite.
Can you (please) pass the salt? Can you wait a moment, please? Liz, can you do me a favour?	Yes, I'd be glad to.	Can you is often used informally. It usually sounds less polite than could you or would you.
Do you think you could lend me some money until next week?		We say do you think you could ...? (not can)
INCORRECT: May you pass the salt?		May is used only with I or we in polite requests.

With would you mind	Responses	Note
Would you mind closing the window? Excuse me. Would you mind repeating that?	No. I'd be happy to. Not at all. I'd be glad to.	Notice in (c): Would you mind is followed by -ing (a gerund). The meaning in (c): I don't want to cause you any trouble, but would you please close the window. Would that cause you any inconvenience?
	Sure./Okay. (informal)	The informal responses of "Sure" and "Okay" are common, but are not logical: the speaker means "No, I wouldn't mind" but seems to be saying "Yes, I would mind." Native speakers understand that the response "Sure" or "Okay" in this situation means that the speaker agrees to the request.
Would you pass the salt (please)? Will you (please) pass the salt? Liz, will you do me a favour?	I'd like to pass the salt, but I can't reach it. I'd like to, but sorry, I'm busy. I'd like to, but sorry, I can't at the moment. Sorry, I'm busy. Sorry, I can't at the moment.	A person usually responds in the affirmative to a polite request. If a negative response is necessary, a person might begin by saying "I'd like to, but ..." (e.g., "I'd like to pass the salt, but I can't reach it.").

5. Modal for Requesting 3

Asking for something	Note
Can we have our room key, please? Could I have a receipt, please? (in a shop) Can I have these postcards, please? (during a meal) Could I have the salt, please?	We use Can I/we have...? and Could I/we have . . .? when we ask someone to give us something.
May I have these postcards, please?	May I have ...? is also possible.
Could you give me a receipt, please?	We can also say Could you give me a receipt, please? but we do not use the imperative. NOT Give me a receipt.
A large white loaf, please. Two coffees, please.	When we ask for something in a shop or a cafe, we can simply name what we want, but we must say please.
I'd like a chicken sandwich, please. I'll have a coffee.	We can also use I'd like ... or I'll have ...

D. Tasks

1. Let's play "Do Me a Favour" card game.

How to use the game

RULES

- Deal eight cards to each player.
- Put the rest of the cards face down in a pile in the middle.
- Look at your cards. They have a question mark ? or a tick ✓ in the corner.
✓ cards are request cards. ? cards are replay cards. If you have two that match, throw them away.
- Now begin the game.
- Player number 1 chooses a ? card and asks any other player to do what is shown on the card, for example, Lilli, can/could you open the door, please?

6. If Lili has a corresponding v card, she must give it to the first player and say, Yes, of course or Sure, OK. The first player can then throw both cards away and have another turn.
7. If Lili hasn't got the right v card, she must make an excuse and say, for example, I'm sorry, I'm busy at the moment or Sorry, I can't, I'm going out. Then the first player must pick up a card from the pile.
8. Then it is the second player's turn ...
9. The first player to finish all of his/her cards is the winner.

Essential vocabulary

clean (the window/floor/coat/carpet), sweep (the floor), mend (the vase/window), post (the letter), empty (the bin/ashtray), clear (the table), put away (the records), tidy, make the bed, do the washing up/shopping, make the coffee, open (the door), close (the window), wash (the clothes), mow the lawn, paint (the room), answer (the telephone).

3. Requesting practice

Complete the polite requests with your own words. Try to imagine what the speaker might say in the given situation. Number 1 has been done for you.

- a. JACK : What's the trouble, Officer?
 OFFICER : You make an illegal U-turn.
 JACK : I did?
 OFFICER : Yes. May I see your driver's license?
 JACK : Certainly. It's in my wallet.
 OFFICER : Would you please remove it from your wallet?
- b. WAITER : Good evening. Are you ready to order?
 CUSTOMER : No, we're not. Could you _____?
 WAITER : Certainly. And if you have any questions, I'd be happy to tell you about anything on the menu.
- c. SALLY : Are you driving to the meeting tonight?
 MIKE : Uh-huh, I am.
 SALLY : Could _____?
 MIKE : Sure. I'll pick you up at 7:00.
- d. MR. PNN : Something's come up, and I can't meet with you Tuesday. Would you mind _____?
 MR. GRAY : Let me check my calendar.
- e. Mechanic : What seems to be the trouble with your car?
 Customer : Something's wrong with the breaks, I think. Could _____?
 MECHANIC : Sure. Just pull the car into the garage.
- f. CLERK : May _____?
 CUSTOMER : Yes, please. Could _____?
 CLERK : Surely. Do you have a particular color in mind?
- g. SHELLY : Are you enjoying the movie?
 MIKE : Yeah, you?

- SHELLY : Yes, but I can't see over the main in front of me.
Would you mind _____?
- MIKE : Not, at all. I see two empty seats across the aisle.
- h. CARLO : I have to leave now, but I'd like to continue this conversation later. May _____?
- ANNE : Of course. My phone is 555-1716. I'll look forward to hearing from you.

4. Make a conversation and then tape it based on the following contexts:

1. Offering to do something
2. Offering something,
3. Asking permission / asking to do something,
4. Asking someone to do something,
5. Asking for something.

UNIT 5

"What's Your Opinion?"

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of this unit, students will be able:
to express opinion in English.

Source: <https://www.theodysseyonline.com/opinions-and-why-yours-is-wrong>

A. Pre-Activities

Let's watch the Video

Watch the video and give your opinion related the video orally.

You can watch the video at:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=P5_Msrdg3Hk

B. Activities

Read and practice the following dialogue.

- Emily : Hi Tom! What are you doing?
 Tommy : I'm reading a newspaper.
 Emily : Any good news?
 Tommy : I've just read about full day school.
 Emily : So what is your opinion about that?
 Tommy : In my opinion, it is useful for Indonesian education development. Because if school time is extended until 4 or 5 PM, students can learn more. So, Indonesia's educational ranking in the world can be increased.
 Emily : Do you think like that? But how about the students? Don't you think it is too boring for them being in school all day?
 Tommy : No, if the teacher can bring class situation more fun, giving them exciting activities, so the student will enjoy their day in school.
 Emily : I think you're right.

C. Language Function

In certain situations, both at university and in our careers, we have to give our opinions and discuss subjects that we may disagree about. It is useful to know some of the correct language so that we can agree and disagree politely without causing offence.

1. Different ways of asking for opinion:

Formal	Informal
Have you got any comments on ...	What do you think of ...?
Do you have any idea?	What do you think about ...?
Do you have any opinion on ...	What is your opinion?
Would you give me your opinion on ...?	Why do they behave like that?
What is your reaction to ...	Do you think it's going?
What is your opinion about ...?	How do you like?
What are you feeling about ...?	How was the trip?
What are your views on ...?	How do you think of his idea?
Please give me your frank opinion?	How do you feel about ...?

2. Different ways of saying what you think about something:

Formal	Informal
I personally believe ...	I think ... / I don't think ...
I personally consider ...	I don't think I care for it.
I personally think /feel ...	I think, it's good/nice/terrific ...
I hold the opinion ...	I think that awful/ not nice/ terrible ...
My own view of the matter is ...	I don't think much of it.

Well, personally ...	I think that ...
If I had my view, I would ...	In my opinion, I would rather ...
	In my case ...
	What I'm more concerned with ...
	What I have in my mind is ...
	The way I see is that ...
	No everyone will agree with me, but ...
	To my mind ...
	From my point of view ...
	For me, ...
	I believe .. / I don't believe ...

4. Read the paragraph below.

In my opinion, students are not allowed to use cell phone in schools. First of all, I believe that the cell phone can distract the learning process. In addition, I think that the students use cell phone to talk with their friends during class time and also text message or pass on answer of tests or homework. Moreover, in my view, the students also use the camera or another application, which becomes sort of disruption to learning. Hence, I personally consider that cell phone is not beneficial and in accordance with learning process.

5. Work individually and study the following picture (a) carefully. Then, write your own opinion based on the following pictures (b) and share your opinion with your friends.

Picture source: http://www.outlookafghanistan.net/topics.php?post_id=13228

Han and Intan are talking about technology

- Han : Hi Intan! How's life?
- Intan : Hi, Han...never better.
- Han : You know what? I just read a newspaper this morning and there was news that the government is going to block facebook in our country.
- Intan : Really, why?
- Han : I heard that the government wants to do that because there are more negative contents than the positives.
- Intan : Well, that's exactly what I feel about facebook now. Nowadays, people use facebook for something inappropriate.

- Han : Seriously? I don't think so. You know, how many people can connect because of facebook. Even you can communicate with people overseas from it.
- Intan : No doubt about it. However, don't you know that most of criminal cases happened because they chat with someone they have never known before? Not to mention that it happens to underage children.
- Han : We can't directly blame facebook for this case. In case of criminal happened to children, I think that we need to tell parents to pay more attention to their children. Parents need to guide them and give more education about how dangerous it is to meet stranger.
- Intan : After listening to your opinion, I suppose you are right. But I think there is another problem beside criminal cases, right? Hate speech for instance.
- Han : Exactly! Hate speech becomes another big issue why the government insists on blocking facebook.
- Intan : And what do you say about it? I don't get it why people are so rude to say that in social media. But in fact, they don't even have any courage.
- Han : I couldn't agree you more. People are likely to be someone different in social media. But again, it is not the reason to block it. There is a law that already regulates the criminal case.
- Intan : You always tell me that no reasons to close facebook. Can you give me the benefit of this social media?
- Han : Haha...Sure, not only connecting people all around the world, it also provides so many information. You know, most people use facebook now and this is why nowadays all media also have their page on it.
- Intan : Well, I suppose you are right

Sam : Sorry. I was just sending a message. I was multitasking! I'm with you now.

Gemma : ¹ _____ I don't think you can send messages and talk to someone in real life at the same time! That's my point. The real-life person should come first. Don't you think?

Sam : ² _____ you just need to send a quick message . i don't think it's rude. In fact, I think it's rude to ignore the messages, actually.

Gemma : Yeah, I suppose so. ³ _____ for me, the biggest disadvantage of having a mobile phone is that we're constanly being distracted from what's happening in the real world!

Sam : ⁴ _____. You can carry on what you're doing, and you can keep up with your friends at the same time.

Gemma : ⁵ _____ when you've got one of your best mates sitting right in front of you, maybe it's time to switch off?

- Shall we
 - Let's
 - come on
 - maybe it's time to
 - We've just got on

- Gemma : Yeah, there are a lot of advantages ... but when you've got one of your best mates sitting right in front of you.
- Sam : You mean ... actually switching off our phones right now?
- Gemma : ² _____? What do you think?
- Sam : Er, OK. It'll give me something to post on Facebook later.
- Gemma : Yeah, ³ _____! Honestly, we haven't had a good chat in real life for ages.
- Sam : All right – you're absolutely right.
- Gemma : OK! Brilliant. On three then!
- Gemma : One ... two ... three ... off!
- and Sam
- Sam : Wow! We did it.
- Gemma : That didn't hurt too much!
- Sam : Not yet.
- Gemma : I've got a plan! ⁴ _____ just leave them off until we finish our drinks.
- Sam : Yeah, that might be a good idea.
- Gemma : ⁵ _____ focus on the advantages! It feels so weird knowing no one can contact me.
- Sam : Yeah, it does ... but I like this feeling of freedom. I'm going to keep mine off all day.
- Gemma : Wow. Really? Now that is something to post on Facebook. 'Sam survives a whole day without his phone!'

2. Past Continuous Tense

The past continuous tense describes actions or events in a time before now, which began in the past and is still going on at the time of speaking. In other words, it expresses an unfinished or incomplete action in the past.

Function and example of Past Tense:

- To describe in a story written in the past tense.
e.g: The sun was shining and the birds were singing as the elephant came out of the jungle.
- To describe an unfinished action that was interrupted by another event or action.
e.g: I was dreaming about going vacation when the alarm clock rang.
- To express a change of mind
e.g: I was going to spend the day at the beach but I've decided to get my homework done instead.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing in (1) to your recent advertisement for an office administrator. Please find (2) my current CV.

I feel I would be (3) for the post for a number of reasons. Firstly, I speak excellent English, having recently passed the Cambridge First Certificate exam with a C grade. Secondly, I feel I possess the (4) import/export experience, having previously spent a fortnight working in the canteen of a French company. During this time, I gained (5) experience. I also feel my social skills and ability to communicate (6) from dealing with customer complaints in my workplace. I am now looking to put these new skills into practice.

On top of all this, I am a dedicated, motivated worker, able to act both independently and also as part of a team. In my last job, I was responsible for establishing a new system for the collection and cleaning of trays, for which I received an Employee of the Month award. I enjoy new (7) and never give less than my all.

I am available for (8) at any time and would be happy to provide (9), should you require them.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you require any (10) Information.

I look forward to hearing from you soon,

Yours faithfully,

Terry S. Durham.

D. Tasks

1. Read the passage below, and make a draft of power point presentation

TIME MANAGEMENT

Time is something that you can lose and never get back. People are always wishing they had more hours available in the day. The solution to this common problem is easier than one might realize. With a few minor adjustments in how you utilize your time you can change how you manage your time. Proper time management is something that can change your life on a fundamental basis for the better.

Every daily cycle consists of a twenty-four hour period. This is one of those things that is what it is and cannot be changed. Even though you can't control time, you can control how the time you have is used. This realization is the first step to being effective in your own time management. It is important to take stock in what is important in your daily life and focus on allotting time for these things. Anything that is non-important should be eliminated.

Developing skills to effectively manage your time will bring forth improvements to your life on a dramatic scale. You must be accepting to making fundamental changes. You have to learn to prioritize and take things one step at a time. Chances for failure increase when you take on more than you can handle or when you take on too much at one time. Developing time management skills will also help you get to know yourself a little better. This is the first step in proper time management. As people age, it becomes much easier to lose track of important things in your life. It seems crazy that humans allow this to happen, but it is something that happens really easily. The first thing you must do is get in touch with what it is you want to accomplish from your life.

This is the point where you locate your vision. When people are young, they believe that anything is possible. Think back to your younger days and remember how you envisioned your life at that time. It is likely that many of your priorities have changed since then, but some of the core ones will have remained the same.

Begin by focusing on the things you want to achieve. Pick something big and something small. After you have decided on what those things are, take steps to formulate a plan that can set you on a path to achieving these things. Completing one step toward each goal is an excellent start. By going at your own pace, you begin to plan and manage your time much more effectively. Planning is key to mapping out the direction in which you should head.
