The email body contains the following text:

Dear Mr. Prastowo

Manuscript IFRJ22088, entitled 'Effect of Clitoria ternatea Flower Extract Addition on Yoghurt Properties during Production and Storage', which you submitted to International Food Research Journal, has been reviewed. The comments of the reviewers appear below.

Based on the advice received, your manuscript could be reconsidered for publication should you be prepared to incorporate MAJOR REVISIONS.

When preparing and submitting your revised manuscript (which should be labelled as such), you will be able to respond to the comments made by the reviewers, the Associate Editor and the Editor in the space provided. You can use this space to document the changes you make to the original manuscript and submit a list of responses to the comments and suggestions, item by item.

Your list of responses should also be uploaded as a separate file (i.e. Word) in addition to your comments in the system. For the separate uploaded file, please explicitly and clearly state where and how you have addressed the referees' criticisms or provide your reasons for rebuttal of the criticisms. Please submit 'Responses to Reviewers' Comments' for each of the point raised by each referee with numbering system (include line and page numbers), and to cross reference it with the revised manuscript. Please also highlight the changes to your manuscript within the document by highlighting the text or using colored text.

The interface also shows a left sidebar with folders like 'Email Masuk', 'Belum Dibaca', 'Draft', and 'Terakhir'. Comments to the Author

However, the manuscript subject is very interesting, but the authors didn't present it in a good way

- The manuscript lacks novelty, the authors should point out and focusing on the novelty side of the work
- The manuscript full of grammatical mistakes, there are many typing and grammatical mistakes were observed.
- The manuscript lacks coordination and interrelations between sentences and paragraphs.
- Abstract lacks data values based on the findings of the study relating to different parameters.

The introduction didn't include sufficient background like the classification and industrial importance of the Clitorea ternata flower

- The introduction didn't include sufficient background like the classification and industrial importance of the Clitoria ternatea flower.
- Some references are repeated in the same paragraph, such as Hamad et al., 2020, Oguis et al., 2019, Szołtysik et al., 2021..etc.
-Please provide the year of sample collection which is missing in abstract/ materials & methods.
-Some methods without reference. e.g. Clitoria ternatea flower extract preparation, Yoghurt production, Stability during storage...etc.
-Who identified and diagnosed Clitoria ternatea flower.
-Why is there no sensory evaluation for yoghurt?
-Scientific name must be written in italic. e.g. reference line 482, line 493 and 498..etc.
-The quality of the figures must be improved.

Dear the editorial team of International Food Research Journal

Our apologies for the inconveniences we made. Has our APC been successfully received by the financial department of IFRJ? Actually, we (the authors) got the financial support from our University for The APC. Thus, we need a confirmation from the journal editorials since we must make a report related to the payment to the financial department of our University, at least in this week. Hopefully, It would be a concern and a consideration. Lastly, we would also like to thank for your kindness, time and concern.
