The Center for Health Equity Research Institute, at Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science, offers programming aimed at enhancing the readiness of early career faculty at minority-serving institutions to conduct community-engaged biomedical research with basic, clinical, or behavioral outcomes to eliminate health disparities among racial/ethnic minority populations and to increase their representation among National Institutes of Health (NIH)-funded investigators. The CHER Institute is supported by the National Institute of General Medical Sciences/National Institutes of Health, grant # R25GM121266.
