Dear Dani Fadillah

Some time ago you submitted a book review for possible publication in Medicine, Conflict and Survival through the Editorial Manager system. At MCS we handle book reviews outside the Editorial Manager system so I wrote directly about our interest in the review, effectively saying that with some changes we would like to publish it. We haven't heard anything from you since I wrote and suspect that the email address I used didn't work. I hope this one will work and that you will be able to let me know what the position is now with the review and whether you are still interested in publishing in MCS.

Best wishes

Michael Pountney

Dear Professor Michael Pountney

Yes, I am still interested.

I did not receive any emails from you previously. Thank you for providing me with the information in this email.

I look forward to receiving further information.

Regards,
Dani

By the way, could I see the revision notes or the revised manuscript that is going to be published?

Is there anything I need to work on or revise, or should I just wait?

regards,
dani

Dear Dani Fadillah

Thanks for this. I've been through your review, re-formatted it so that it is in our style, made some changes for clarity (in track change) and asked a couple of questions. Please let me know that you are happy with what I've done.

Best wishes

Michael Pountney

Thank you for your assistance. However, where can I read the completed work? I couldn't find any attachments in this email.

regards,

Dani

Thanks, Dani – all clear now. I've sent it off to our publishers, Taylor & Francis, and the next step will be for you and me to receive a final proof with any changes they want to make the text conform to their house style. Then it will go up on line very soon after.

Best wishes

Michael
